Do you Know the Fire Code in Your area?

Several building Codes in DFW have been updated to require Class C Fire Rated Roofing Materials that slow the Spread of fire.

Ventilation is often overlooked by Contractors when installing a new Roof and many of the vents installed are Prohibited in the Area!

Don't let this Happen to you!

Now In Stock!

O'Hagin Fire and Ice Vents

They carry a CLASS A rating that far exceeds the code Requirements.

These vents have a wire mesh that prevents embers from coming in through the roof penetrations. Keep your Next Project up to code!

This Blows!

We are now offering Procat Blow-In Insulation with Free Same Day Rental on the equipment.

Insulation is a great way to add value for your Homeowner. It makes sense for roofing contractors to offer this service when installing a new roof. This could bring the house up to code and help save hundreds in heating and cooling costs. Also, intake vents blocked with blow-in insulation are a common occurrence that can destroy the integrity of the roof. This is the perfect opportunity to correct any existing blockages and prevent future damage to the new roof. We are happy to add this quote to your next project and provide you the material for this energy saving upgrade.
